

In-service: NATIVE WARM SEASON GRASSES

Whats Good for the Bird is Good for the Herd

February 8th, 2018

Time: 10:00- 2:30

ODA Office: Bromfield
Bld. Conference Rm. 308
8995 East Main St.
Reynoldsburg, OH 43068

Training for Conservationists, extension agents, wildlife biologists and other natural resource professionals interested to learn about the research and case study results for establishing and managing NWSG's for the combined benefits of grazing and wildlife habitat.*

- Why consider these types of grasses?
- How to establish native summer forages
  - species and variety considerations
  - site prep and planting recommendations
- New technical note for establishing NWSG's
- Grazing criteria for grass management and livestock production
- Research Results: grazing impacts on game & nongame wildlife
- Program preview: Working Lands for Wildlife 1 5 & 6 : / ) :
looking to future opportunities in FY2018 DE QROG G

Featured Speaker:

Dr. Pat Keyser, Professor and Director of the Center for Native Grasslands Management <http://nativegrasses.utk.edu/>

Additional speakers: Ohio State School of Natural Resources Faculty, Ohio Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS), Ohio Department of Natural Resources Div. of Wildlife (ODNR-DOW), Pheasants Forever (PF), Ohio Department of Agriculture (ODA), and participating landowners.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

USDA is An Equal Opportunity Provider, Employer and Lender